It is a matter of earnest congratulation among the leaders here that the victory which will place a Democratic President in the White House on the 4th of March next, will also turn over to the party the control of both branches of Congress-the House by a very large majority and the Senate by a majority sufficient to control legislation. There is, of course, much speculation as to the policy which will be followed by Mr. Cleveland and his party, and the solicitude of Republicans in this direction is very amusing. There be begun, but all this is necessarily spec-ulative, as probably no human being Shober, the publishers, in their advance ident-elect as to what his first important steps will be. At least three such apparitions are familiar to the watchmen and attendants who guard the great building and keep it in order. According to the testimony of some of them, at twenty minutes past 12 o'clock every night the spirit of General Logan comes out of the room of the Committee on Military and of the Committee on Military and Militia, of which he used to be chairman, beneath the Senate chamber. He opens the door slowly, it is related, and stepping out, closes it silently behind him, proceeding therefrom with noiseless tread westward. The negroes who come to clean the floors at 5 o'clock every morning are so afraid of encountering the spectre that they turn on syrup. It is described by many of the watchmen, who claim to have seen it, as a tall, military-looking gentleman of foreign aspect with long mustache and goatee, who walks about the corridors in a meiancholy manner, with his hands a sixpence. Negroes confined there are extremely afraid of being put into the cell which he occupied. One colored prisoner confined in this cell was frightened into a fit by another who rolled marbles into it at night from the opposite side of the corridor. Another spectre attached to the same penal institution has, in the belief of the credulous, the disagreeable feature of being headless. It is said to be the apparition of a murderer named Stone, who was the first criminal hanged at the jail. He was a large man, very fat, and his head was cut off by the rope as cleanly as if the job had been done with an axe.

An interesting rumor is current here that David B. Hill, the bachelor Demoeratic Senator from New York, will shortly marry. The bride-elect is said to be Mrs. Fannie Iverson, a handsome and wealthy young widow of Atlanta, Ga. It is stated that the ro-
